

I can't believe what I am hearing about Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry "documentary" days before the election! This is just the kind of thing I feared would happen when restrictions were loosened on allowing one company to own a huge piece of the media market. I fear we are returning to the bad old days of monopoly and election fraud.

Stations like Sinclair that use the public airwaves free of charge should be required to serve the public interest. Is everything for sale now to the highest bidder? This does not help to raise the level of trust in this country.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them, and require media to behave responsibly and within the law.
Thank you.
